8	812	GITHINJI,JOHN	#1. i bought these shares when i was young.AT over 70 years today i do not recall receiving any dividend and yet coffee is the most favorite beverage not only here in the UNITED states but in also in BELGIUM AND MANY European countries. I have never read of industrial strife on the farm while the directors /Management faces keep on gleaming and shining hopefully due to returns/payments from our investment. This "tabia" must change: let shareholders earn reasonable return on their investment. #2 Coffee consumption is not going to decline. IN order for this company to earn better returns the company must think of value addition. The company should road, grind and form a trading subsidiary without incurring unnecessary costs. #3 WHEN DO DIRECTORS INTEND TO PAY DIVIDEND?	We are pleased to report a significant profit increase of 29%, settling at Kshs 11.8 million. However, due to current short-term obligations and conservative production estimates, the board has not recommended a dividend payment this period. Our strategic focus remains on maintaining a yield above 1,400 kgs/ha. As a large estate grower, Eaagads primarily exports green coffee beans to various international roasting houses. This is driven by direct buyer demand for green beans, which they prefer for their custom blends. While this presents a strong market, the opportunity cost of selling green beans over roasted products impacts cash flow, as it can lead to higher closing stock levels of finished goods.	9/19/2025 4:43:02 PM
